Global Resource Management (GRM)[™] is a human factors learning programme primarily aimed at people working in safety-critical industries. The programme was launched in 1993 - at that time under the name Bridge Resource Management (BRM) - with maritime personnel as the main target group. Since 2013, the further development of the learning programme is assumed by ALL Academy whose staff has been involved in the programme since the launch of BRM in 1993. ALL Academy aims at reaching out to a wider audience, inside and outside of the maritime industry. Human factors is a generic science area applicable to anyone in any organization.
